Note

In the beginning, due to Trademark restrictions, we went to market as Gravity Oilfield Services. Since that time we have “gravitated” toward using just “Gravity” to identify ourselves and what we do.

Going forward, we will use the name Gravity without the “Oilfield Services” descriptor in all marketing and written communications unless legally required.

Function

The purpose of this guide is to establish a framework through which we will communicate the Gravity brand. It is crucial that our look and our language be consistent in every message. In nature, gravity is an unseen force that is predictable, measurable and reliable. In the oilfield, Gravity has these same qualities, which help ensure uninterrupted flow. That's the inspiration behind our company.

Color

Our brand is based on the principle that Gravity is the undeniable force, the unbroken promise and the uninterrupted flow. That single-source supplier of water infrastructure, power generation and rental solutions and wellbore solutions is reflected in our color palette. Instead of being dominated by bold and commonplace primaries, it is instead comprised far more sophisticated vibrant hues. We are reliable, strong and stable.
